hazard management services

definition

Specific hazard identification and risk assessment management service provision to address organisational risk management.

purpose

To promote hazard identification and risk assessment and advice for the removal or management of these risks within an organisation.

features

Customised hazard management and risk assessment advice, services and/or training will be provided to our customers.

Hazard management and risk assessment services will be provided to promote the objectives of the customer's safety plans. Such services may include:

- Training for the purposes of specific skill development.
- Hazard identification and risk management advice for specific issues such as manual handling and ergonomic hazards.
- Advice to assist organisations in the implementation of improvement programs.

outcome

Hazard identification and risk assessment advice on removal or mitigation. Risks are reduced, resulting in financial, people, community and customer benefits.
